"These panelists are helping chart a path forward—one that ensures ethanol remains a cornerstone of the U.S. economy."

41th ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL
FEW[®]
FUEL ETHANOL
WORKSHOP[®] & EXPO
OMAHA, NE
June 9-11, 2025

Now in its 41st year, the FEW keynote address will be given by Geoff Cooper, president & CEO of the Renewable Fuels Association.

Following Geoff Cooper's keynote address, a panel of industry association leaders will highlight key policy developments, challenges and industry goals. Participants include:

Moderator: Ben Rhodes, Executive Director, Nebraska Ethanol Board

- Brian Jennings, CEO, American Coalition for Ethanol
- Chris Bliley, Senior Vice President, Growth Energy

- Troy Bredenkamp, Senior Vice President, Government & Public Affairs, Renewable Fuels Association

The 2025 FEW promises three days of events, featuring a comprehensive program across four tracks:

- Production and Operations: Biological Processes
- Production and Operations: Mechanical Processes and Plant Control
- Coproducts and Product Diversification
- Leadership and Financial Management

Attendees will also have the opportunity to engage with three co-located events, including the Carbon Capture & Storage Summit, the Sustainable Fuels Summit covering SAF, Renewable Diesel, and Biodiesel, and the Ethanol 101 session. With expert-led presentations, discussions, and networking opportunities, the FEW will provide a platform to explore the latest innovations, policy developments and strategies shaping the future of the ethanol and renewable fuels industries.
