

West Pest Co. Enhances Residential and Commercial Pest Control Services in Santa Cruz County

Santa Cruz County residents now have expanded access to eco-conscious pest control solutions as West Pest Co. responds to local demand.

SANTA CRUZ, CA, UNITED STATES, May 12, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In response to increasing demand for environmentally responsible pest management, West Pest Co. has expanded its service offerings across Santa Cruz County, providing both homeowners and businesses with a wider range of pest control services tailored to the local environment.

Pest Control Services in Santa Cruz County

The growth of pest pressures due to shifting weather patterns, urban development, and seasonal pest activity has made effective, safe, and sustainable pest control more essential than ever. With this expansion, West Pest Co. is reaffirming its commitment to providing the community with safe, practical solutions to issues including rodents, ants, wasps, interior pests, gophers, aphids, and more.

Our clients aren't just customers—they're our neighbors,”

Expanded Services Designed for Local Needs

Founded and operated by Matthew West, West Pest Co. emphasizes local knowledge, eco-conscious practices, and long-term pest prevention. The company now offers:

- Conventional and eco-friendly pest treatments for both residential and commercial properties
- Integrated Pest Management (IPM) solutions that reduce reliance on chemicals
- Rodent exclusion and sanitation strategies for long-term control
- Garden pest care, including treatment for aphids and gophers

- Flexible scheduling and no-chemical options for sensitive environments

“Whether it’s ant infestations in coastal homes or gopher damage in community gardens, our expanded services are designed to meet the specific challenges Santa Cruz County residents face,” said Matthew West, owner of West Pest Co. “We’re proud to offer solutions that are effective and mindful of the health of our clients and the environment.”

A Timely Response to Regional Trends

Local pest control needs have evolved significantly over the past few years. Santa Cruz County’s temperate climate and agricultural proximity contribute to year-round pest activity. According to recent industry reports, California’s coastal counties are experiencing increased pressure from invasive species and rodents due to changing climate conditions and urban sprawl.

In response, West Pest Co. has trained its team to deploy sustainable practices and modern techniques that align with environmental regulations and community expectations. The company’s flexible treatment options allow property owners to choose the method that aligns with their values—whether it’s a traditional solution, an eco product, or a no-chemical approach.

Trusted Local Expertise

With roots in the community and a growing presence across neighborhoods such as Capitola, Aptos, and Scotts Valley, West Pest Co. is recognized for its attentive customer service, safety-first approach, and commitment to lasting pest control.

“Our clients aren’t just customers—they’re our neighbors,” added West. “It’s important to us that our work helps create safer homes, thriving gardens, and pest-free workplaces without compromising on environmental care.”
