

The City Show™ Unveils Video Platform to Become the 'Netflix of User-Generated Content'

The City Show™ is creating the world's first online "TV show" generated from User-Generated Content.

MIAMI, FL, UNITED STATES, May 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today marks the official re-launch of The City Show™, a visionary tech media platform redefining how we experience global cities. What began as a podcast has evolved into a revolutionary video tech platform, The City Show™ now emerges as a next-generation hub that empowers creators to build the world's most authentic and visually-driven portrayal of life in the globe's vibrant cities – organized by CITY and CONTENT category.

"We're not just building another content platform," said Jack Alexander, Founder & CEO of The City Show™. "We are converting creator and influencer content into the 'Netflix of User-Generated Content'"

What Makes The City Show™ Different?

- User-Generated Meets Studio-Curated: Like social media, users upload their own content — but like streaming platforms, videos are categorized and refined for elevated discoverability.
- Organized by CITY + CONTENT: Say goodbye to hashtag chaos. Whether it's Tokyo Street Food, Miami Nightlife, London History, or Los Angeles Pop Culture, videos are categorized where they belong — making discovering the world's cities and their people feel more real.
- Seamless Upload Portal: Anyone can submit vertical or horizontal videos at thecityshow.com/upload. No editing required, but preferred.

- Creator-First Model: Each selected piece of content will feature the creator's Instagram handle, as well as their chosen CITY + CATEGORY. Videos are also shared on TikTok and YouTube for cross-platform visibility.
- Featured Spotlight: The City Show's editorial team curates the best content to be featured on our social channels and on city-specific pages.
