

Zensights Names Chris Calabretta as Principal

SCOTTSDALE, AZ, UNITED STATES, May 19, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Zensights is delighted to announce that Chris Calabretta has joined the organization as a Principal. A transformative supply chain and procurement executive with three decades of experience, Chris has repeatedly turned complex global operations into agile, value-generating engines for growth.

His unique blend of operational discipline, financial acumen, and people-centric leadership will help our partners unlock resilient growth in an increasingly uncertain landscape.”

Bob Jansen

Chris began his career at Johnson & Johnson, quickly earning a reputation for aligning supply continuity with commercial imperatives. As Vice President of Procurement for Biologics and Vaccines, he led a global team that secured 100% raw material availability—safeguarding $15 billion in sales—while launching a supplier diversity program that dramatically expanded spend with diverse suppliers. He then brought that same strategic rigor to Campbell Soup Company, CommScope, and Ancillare, where he rebuilt procurement and logistics organizations, consolidated post-merger teams, and delivered more than $100 million in savings through lean processes, aggressive risk management, and data-driven sourcing.

Bob Jansen, CEO of Zensights, states, "As Chris steps into his role at Zensights, he will bring decades of experience to our client base and our team. His unique blend of operational discipline, financial acumen, and people-centric leadership will help our partners unlock resilient growth in an increasingly uncertain landscape."
