The book's central message emphasizes that spiritual renewal is not just about belief but about living in accord with Christ in thought, behavior, and purpose. Dr. Udoko writes with clarity and conviction, reminding readers that the new birth is an act of divine grace that frees believers from the weight of sin and human depravity. This liberation allows individuals to align more deeply with God's nature, fostering a reciprocal relationship based on trust, obedience, and purpose.

Designed to resonate with both seasoned believers and new Christians, 'A Relational Fellowship' brings together theological insight and practical application. Dr. Udoko highlights the importance of covenant—a binding spiritual agreement—and encourages readers to go beyond religious practice to cultivate a lifestyle grounded in God's word, values, and kingdom purposes.

The author's passion for biblical teaching is evident throughout. His academic and ministry background—including a PhD in Statistics, teaching roles in universities across Nigeria, Jamaica, the Bahamas, and the U.S., and Bible training at Assemblies of God Bible College—lends depth and credibility to his message. Currently based in Phoenix, Arizona, Dr. Udoko serves as the National Secretary of Scripture Union Nigeria in North America and actively ministers to international students and local churches.

'A Relational Fellowship: Pursuing a Covenant Relationship with God' is a guide to living in covenant with God, understanding one's divine identity, and committing to a life of service and spiritual maturity. With accessible language and heartfelt conviction, Dr. Udoko's book is positioned to become a trusted resource for Christian readers worldwide seeking deeper spiritual connection and purpose.
