Lei Comerford, PCC, founder of Lei Comerford Consulting, LLC.

With over 25 years in healthcare leadership and five years in hospitality, Comerford brings a unique blend of strategic insight and operational excellence to her coaching. She has held internal leadership roles in corporate environments and now partners with individuals, teams, and organizations to strengthen relationships, enhance executive presence, and navigate complex professional dynamics with clarity and confidence.

My mission is to help leaders communicate with intention, lead with emotional intelligence, and thrive in the face of change.”

Lei Comerford

role in that growth.”

A Professional Certified Coach (PCC) through the International Coaching Federation (ICF), Comerford is also a Maxwell Leadership Team Certified Speaker, Coach, and Trainer, a Certified Positive Intelligence Coach (CPQC), and a Certified AI Skill Development Coach and Trainer through Simple Academy. Known for her ability to foster self-awareness and performance breakthroughs, she brings depth and versatility to her work as a master facilitator, coach, and trusted advisor.

In addition to her private practice, Comerford is active in advancing leadership development nationwide. She serves as a Board Member for the Association for Talent Development (ATD) Nashville Chapter, an Advisor to The Healthcare Businesswomen's Association (HBA) Ambassador Program, and a mentor for The Vanderbilt University Women in Business Program.

She also provides pro bono coaching through the Humanitarian Coaches Network. Based in Mt. Juliet, Tennessee, Comerford remains deeply committed to empowering professionals to lead with clarity, purpose, and impact.
