compound annual growth rate CAGR of 12.6%. Increased interest in role-playing, a rise in digital murder mystery games, escalating adoption of e-commerce, and the growing popularity of augmented reality AR among other factors, have contributed to this significant growth during the historic period.

The gradual rise in the size of the murder mystery games market isn't slowing down. Over the next few years, market size is projected to skyrocket to $3.24 billion in 2029, marking a compound annual growth rate CAGR of 12.4%.

This predicted growth can be attributed to a combination of factors including the rise of social gaming, an interest in crime fiction, and enhanced interactive gaming formats. The report notes significant trends for the forecast period, including the adoption of hybrid play models, escalation in live-action role-playing LARP mystery events, prevalence of subscription-based murder mystery kits, and the advent of advanced graphics and multi-episode campaigns.
