

Craig Alan Brandwein Releases New Opera

"Longing – A Love Across The Ages (An Opera In One Act)" is Available Now

NASHVILLE, TN, UNITED STATES, May 19, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In the tradition of great "art song" composers, such as Franz Schubert, Robert Schumann, Gabriel Fauré, Johannes Brahms, and Gustav Mahler, comes Emmy-nominated composer, Craig Brandwein. With his latest classical work, an opera in one act, Brandwein again delivers an ambitious and stirring collection; another modern-day classic.

Brandwein was commissioned to compose the music, and David Sellers penned the libretto for "Longing – A Love Across The Ages (An Opera In One Act)."

Brandwein earned a Bachelor's degree in Music Education and a Master's degree in Music Theory and Composition from Long Island University (New York). As a public school music educator, he has held positions in the Levittown Public Schools (New York) and i

Set in New York City in the late 1920s, is the story of Dr. Curtis and his daughter, Elise, who are preparing a new Egyptian exhibit of their recent excavation. There, the Forgotten Prince, who was cursed in life, lies in his sarcophagus. The curse destroyed his entire family, ending a dynasty, but leaving the prince alive and trapped in his tomb for thousands of years. Since his discovery, he has watched in secret, learned the new language that he hears, and fallen in love with Elise. Guided by the ghost of his mother, he will reveal himself to Elise. So begins their love story, but the curse isn't yet finished with the ancient prince.
