

Deck Rebellion: Revolutionary Concepts for Outdoor Living

Now an Amazon #1 Hot New Release and Amazon Bestseller in Deck and Patio Building

SPARTA, NJ, UNITED STATES, May 14, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Once considered nothing but a square add-on to the back of a house, decks have transformed into an additional living space, an entertainment space, a family space, and much more. Founder and president of Deck Remodelers, Sean McAleer has compiled a stunning collection of his artistry and design of these outdoor spaces in his new book, Deck Rebellion: Revolutionary Concepts for Outdoor Living. It combines beautiful photos with personal accounts and Sean's history with architecture. (Watch the book trailer here: <https://bit.ly/DeckRebellionTrailer> )

Deck Rebellion is a beautiful collection of photographs that emphasize the importance of design and practical construction. It will give any reader 'deck envy!' - John Kelly, Detroit Free Press

As the most awarded builder in North America, Sean is a revolutionary when it comes to deck design. Deck Remodelers has received over 70 NADRA (North American Deck and Railing Association) national design awards. He has redefined what a deck is and highlights the ways homeowners can use the space in an ever-changing world. Including Sean's top ten award winners, this book reveals the eye of a craftsman and businessman. He goes into detail about the process of the design from start to finish, using distinct examples.

This is a perfect title for readers who love architecture and architectural photography, home design and landscaping. Other readers may enjoy it just for the talking points it may give for thinking about their own decks and outdoor areas. - Kathryn Picard, Librarian Book Connoisseur, 5-Stars

Sean McAleer, President of Deck Remodelers, is a third-generation carpenter and cabinet maker who has redefined outdoor living through visionary deck design.

"It starts with someone asking, 'Can you do this?' My answer is always, 'If it's possible, we'll make it happen,'" Sean says. Pools, kitchens, fans, fireplaces—these only scratch the surface of what Sean designs. He highlights the two most important steps when it comes to deck planning: cover the space, and then let the possibilities ride. He asks the important questions of what purpose a deck serves: "How do they want to live in the space? What do they want to use it for? Entertaining? A private sanctuary? Do they have a wedding or another big event coming up? And of course, the kids. Are the kids little? Teenagers? How does the family want to use the deck as their kids grow? What does the client want to highlight—the view?"
