The most recent project focused on cleaning and restoring one of the school’s prominent exterior walls, which had previously been covered in weathered, deteriorated paint. The Kovay Gardens team removed the damaged layers, repaired the wall’s surface, and applied a fresh coat of white paint, preparing the space for a collaborative student mural that will soon bring color, creativity, and meaning to the campus.

The upcoming mural will be designed and painted by the students themselves, encouraging artistic expression, fostering a sense of pride, and enhancing the school environment. It represents not just a beautification project, but a deeper investment in youth development and community identity.

“Supporting Emiliano Zapata Elementary has been a heartfelt and ongoing mission,” a Kovay Gardens Ramon Cortez shared. “At Kovay Gardens, we believe that investing in the places where our children learn and grow is an investment in the entire future of La Cruz de Huanacastle.”

This initiative is part of a larger series of community-driven improvements led by Kovay Gardens.
