The Equity Explorers

With silver up 32.4% and gold up 29% in 2025, Krauth's insights are timely and critical. As the only newsletter exclusively focused on silver, Silver Stock Investor provides unparalleled analysis of silver's role as a historical inflation hedge and a vital industrial metal for solar panels, electric vehicles, and electronics. Krauth's bestselling book, The Great Silver Bull, details silver's historical significance and offers strategies to build a silver investment portfolio that outperforms inflation. His extensive industry network and rigorous research uncover best-in-class opportunities in physical silver, ETFs, royalty companies, and junior explorers, making him a sought-after voice at conferences like MoneyShow and Metals Investor Forum.

During the boot camp, Krauth will lead an interactive session, diving into all things Silver. Attendees will benefit from live Q&A, learning how to spot high-reward opportunities and manage risks in volatile markets. Participants will also receive a free "Mining Market Mastery 101" worksheet and have a chance to win signed copies of The Great Silver Bull, a one-month membership, and more, as highlighted on The Equity Explorers' event page (<https://theequityexplorers.com>).

"Peter Krauth's deep expertise and clear strategies make him an invaluable speaker for our boot camp," said Cali Van Zant, founder of The Equity Explorers and host of The Exploring Mining Podcast. "His focus on silver's generational opportunity will inspire investors to seize the moment in today's commodity boom."

Unlike typical investment events, The Equity Explorers' boot camp prioritizes education over pitches, featuring top experts like Krauth, Jeff Clark, Chris Temple, Philippe Gijssels, and Jean-Pierre Colin. The event aligns with surging demand for critical minerals, as noted in recent market reports, and offers macro-economic perspectives alongside insights into tech sectors like AI and Bitcoin, which rely on silver and other metals.
