A challenging hurdle for many believers is accepting that God can reverse any life-altering challenge or crisis for our good and His glory. If God allows the house to become empty, He can still use it for good as part of His bigger plan. Difficult times have come to many, including EMO affecting the mission ministry and member support but God's hand is still at work.

Do not fret while waiting for an answer; instead, sing melodies in your heart. Count the cars on the passing train, and with each one, name a blessing you now enjoy good health, clear eyes, strong legs, children, a home, food to eat. Wait patiently for the train to pass, wait patiently on God!
