CRS presents Vortex VECTORY - The First Fully Interactive Splashpad® Collection

CRS has been a proud partner of Vortex since 2001. VECTORY™ reflects our shared commitment to innovation, inclusive design, and recreation that truly brings communities together.”

Ron Romens, President and Co-Founder

This launch marks a bold leap forward in aquatic play. VECTORY is the first-ever fully interactive Splashpad® collection, designed to inspire movement, creativity, and connection through responsive, full-body water play. Its next-level interactivity and dynamic features invite people of all ages to move, laugh, and play together—delivering a bold new way to engage entire communities.

“CRS has been a proud partner of Vortex since 2001,” said Ron Romens, President and Co-Founder of CRS. “VECTORY reflects our shared commitment to innovation, inclusive design, and recreation that truly brings communities together.”

The nine-piece VECTORY line blends next-generation water technologies and smart water management to deliver big fun with minimal water use. Its modular layout, including the Anchoring System Safeswap™, allows for future upgrades—making it a flexible, forward-thinking solution for municipalities, parks, and public spaces seeking sustainable and impactful recreation experiences.

Key Features & Benefits:

Next-Level Interactivity – Responsive elements that promote coordination, creativity, and collaboration.

Active, High-Energy Play – Inspires kids to unplug and engage in joyful movement and discovery.

Intergenerational Appeal – Designed for all ages to connect and play together.

Smart Water Use – Engineered for low GPM water flow to reduce waste and enhance operational efficiency.
