Published annually by Capacity Media, the Capacity Power 100 recognises individuals who are leading innovation, advancing infrastructure, and shaping the future of global connectivity. Anthony Voscariades' inclusion on this year's list reflects his strategic leadership and continued commitment to building resilient, carrier-neutral infrastructure across East Africa.

Anthony has been instrumental in positioning East Africa as a rising digital hub. Under his direction, Wingu has expanded operations in Djibouti, Ethiopia, and Tanzania, delivering secure, scalable, and high-performance colocation solutions that meet the region's growing demand for world-class digital infrastructure.

“Anthony's recognition on the Power 100 is a testament to his vision and the progress Wingu is making in driving regional and global connectivity,” said Demos Kyriacou, Co-founder, Deputy CEO, and Chief Operating Officer at Wingu Africa. “We are proud to see his leadership acknowledged on such a respected global platform.”

Leading Infrastructure for Africa's Digital Future

Wingu has been established as East Africa's first specialist carrier-neutral data centre operator, enabling clients to interconnect through diverse network partners with maximum flexibility.

Since 2012, the company has provided mission-critical infrastructure to enterprises, service providers, and institutions across the continent.

With a deep understanding of regional dynamics and a strong commitment to international standards, Wingu continues to play a key role in shaping Africa's digital transformation.

A Global Honour with Regional Significance
Anthony Voscariides' inclusion on the Capacity Power 100 not only celebrates his individual achievements but also amplifies the voice of East African leadership in global telecom circles. It underscores the growing importance of inclusive infrastructure development and the need for strong regional representation in shaping the digital future.

"This honour reflects the extraordinary work of our team at Wingu and the potential we see across East Africa," said Anthony Voscariides. "It is a privilege to contribute to a movement that is expanding opportunity through connectivity."
