

REPORT: MENA REGIONAL INDEX OF ECONOMIC FREEDOM (MENA IEF) 2025

BEIRUT, LEBANON, May 26, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region's economic freedom index has declined for the 15th consecutive year, falling from 51.6 in 2024 to 48.2 in 2025. This marks the lowest score since 2010, reflecting a significant erosion of economic liberties across the region. The index, which measures government intervention, trade freedom, and investment freedom, shows a consistent downward trend over the past decade and a half. Lebanon's score dropped from 45.5 to 42.1, while Saudi Arabia's score fell from 65.8 to 62.4. The report highlights the impact of political instability, corruption, and restrictive economic policies on the region's growth prospects.

The MENA IEF 2025 report is available for free download at <https://www.einpresswire.com/press-releases/mena-ief-2025>.

"The MENA region's economic freedom index has declined for the 15th consecutive year, falling from 51.6 in 2024 to 48.2 in 2025. This marks the lowest score since 2010, reflecting a significant erosion of economic liberties across the region. The index, which measures government intervention, trade freedom, and investment freedom, shows a consistent downward trend over the past decade and a half. Lebanon's score dropped from 45.5 to 42.1, while Saudi Arabia's score fell from 65.8 to 62.4. The report highlights the impact of political instability, corruption, and restrictive economic policies on the region's growth prospects."

Source: "Middle East and North Africa (MENA) Regional Index of Economic Freedom (MENA IEF) 2025".

"The MENA region's economic freedom index has declined for the 15th consecutive year, falling from 51.6 in 2024 to 48.2 in 2025. This marks the lowest score since 2010, reflecting a significant erosion of economic liberties across the region. The index, which measures government intervention, trade freedom, and investment freedom, shows a consistent downward trend over the past decade and a half. Lebanon's score dropped from 45.5 to 42.1, while Saudi Arabia's score fell from 65.8 to 62.4. The report highlights the impact of political instability, corruption, and restrictive economic policies on the region's growth prospects."

CONTACT:

For more information, contact: hmardini@greenpeace.org.

Hiam Mardini
Greenpeace MENA
+961 71 553 232
hmardini@greenpeace.org

Visit us on social media:

LinkedIn

Instagram

Facebook

YouTube

TikTok

X

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/816158211>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2025 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.