What can parents do to safeguard young teen drivers from dangerous streets and highways? Parents Hold the Keys When it Comes to Protecting Teen Drivers

KANSAS CITY, MO, UNITED STATES, May 28, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As summer kicks off and teens start logging more hours behind the wheel, veteran attorney and Teen Driver Safety Advocate Doug Horn is offering a free resource to help parents guide their young drivers with confidence.

The Teen Driver Protection Guide, available now at hornlaw.com/protecting-teen-drivers, is a practical, easy-to-follow handbook designed for real families. It includes ten smart safety tips, a customizable Teen Driving Agreement, and a simple decision-making model Horn calls the ABCDs of driving: Alert, Buckled, Cautious, and Defensive.

This guide isn't about lecturing teenagers—it's about equipping parents, because at the end of the day, teens learn how to drive by watching us. The habits we model become the habits they keep.”

“This guide isn't about lecturing teenagers—it's about equipping parents,” said Horn. “Because at the end of the day, teens learn how to drive by watching us. The habits we model become the habits they keep.”

Horn has worked with car crash victims and their families for more than 30 years. Over time, he saw the same pattern again and again: when parents are involved early and consistently, teens are better prepared for the road ahead. The challenge? Many parents don't know where to start. That's where the guide comes in.

“We all want our kids to be safe, especially on the road,” Horn said. “This guide gives parents a way to lead—calmly, clearly, and with tools that actually make a difference.”

The release of the guide comes just as the “100 Deadliest Days” begin—the time between Memorial Day and Labor Day when teen driver crashes tend to spike. Horn hopes the guide will serve as a valuable conversation starter for families heading into the busy summer driving season.

Whether you’ve got a brand-new driver or a teen still in the learning phase, the Teen Driver Protection Guide is a resource designed to meet families where they are—and help keep kids safer behind the wheel.
