

Silvery Announces Restcool™ – Silver-Infused Cooling Sheets Launching This Summer to Help Hot Sleepers Stay Cool, Clean, and Comfortable

Silvery Announces Restcool™ – Silver-Infused Cooling Sheets Product Launch Summer of 2025
After over two years of research, testing, and development, Silvery has announced the upcoming launch of Restcool™, a revolutionary silver-infused bed sheet designed to combat night sweats, odor buildup, and overheating. Launching this June, Restcool™ redefines sleep hygiene with its advanced blend of temperature-regulating silver fibers and breathable luxury fabric, targeting the millions of Americans who struggle with hot, restless nights.

"Most bedding on the market only focuses on softness or style, not performance," said Thomas Kuosmanen, Founder of Silvery. "We created Restcool™ to solve real problems like overheating, sweat, and odor — and deliver the cleanest, coolest sleep of your life. This isn't just another luxury sheet; it's engineered sleep technology."

Engineered for Cooler, Cleaner Sleep

Traditional sheets trap heat and bacteria, making nights uncomfortable for hot sleepers.

Restcool™ is infused with Silvery Technology™, a proprietary silver technology that prevents bacterial growth, keeping sheets fresher longer while regulating temperature and reducing night sweats.

Key Features & Benefits:

Self-Cleaning Silvery Technology™ – Proprietary silver technology fabric prevents bacterial growth for longer-lasting freshness, reducing the need for frequent washing while maintaining hygiene standards

Advanced Temperature Regulation – Silver fabric creates a cooling microenvironment that helps maintain optimal body temperature throughout the night, reducing heat buildup and sleep disruption

Superior Moisture Management – Engineered fabric structure draws away heat and moisture for consistently dry, comfortable sleep regardless of ambient temperature or personal heat sensitivity

Luxury Performance Blend – Ultra-soft, silky fabric that combines hotel-quality comfort with advanced performance technology, delivering both immediate comfort and long-term benefits
