“Patients fly in from around the world for access to this treatment, and now it’s right here in Coral Springs.”

Shelly Lahn, CEO of Neuro Wellness TMS Centers of America

To commemorate this milestone, Neuro Wellness will host two special events in June, beginning with an in-person Open House on Thursday, June 5, from 5:00 PM to 8:00 PM, at its newly expanded Coral Springs facility. This evening of innovation and community connection will offer a rare behind-the-scenes look at the SAINT® TMS technology, with live demonstrations and discussions from leaders in psychiatric care.

The event will feature representatives from Magnus

Medical, the developers of the SAINT® system, along with Stanford University-affiliated experts who will discuss the origins and rapid clinical impact of the therapy. 3T Radiology, Neuro Wellness’ imaging partner, will also be present to explain the role of functional MRI in patient treatment planning.

“We’ve already seen remarkable changes in our patients’ lives since introducing SAINT® TMS earlier this year,” said Shelly Lahn, CEO of Neuro Wellness TMS Centers of America. “This launch is our way of inviting the broader community to see what’s possible when science, precision medicine, and compassion come together.”

The evening will include a ribbon-cutting ceremony in partnership with the Parkland Chamber of Commerce, joined by the City of Parkland and Coral Springs city officials, first responders, and mental health advocates. This celebration underscores the importance of expanding access to life-saving, evidence-based treatments for those struggling with depression—especially when other options have failed.

For those unable to attend in person, a virtual open house will take place the following week on June 10th from 4PM-6PM, offering participants a comprehensive introduction to SAINT® TMS, including a presentation from the co-developer of SAINT, expert Q&A, and a deep dive into the clinical results emerging from the treatment.

About SAINT® TMS

SAINT® TMS was developed by researchers at Stanford University, and is FDA-authorized for patients with treatment-resistant depression. It differs from conventional TMS therapy in both speed and efficacy—delivering intensive, targeted magnetic stimulation over five consecutive days, with each session taking only ten minutes.

This accelerated protocol has demonstrated remission rates of up to 90% in clinical trials, making it a groundbreaking alternative for individuals who have not responded to antidepressants or traditional talk therapy.

At Neuro Wellness, SAINT® TMS is delivered with a highly personalized approach, guided by functional brain imaging that identifies the precise regions of the brain in need of modulation.

“Patients fly in from around the world for access to this treatment, and now it’s right here in Coral Springs,” said Lahn. “Our goal is to make this therapy available to more people—especially those who’ve been told they’re out of options.”
