What Are Some Of The Driving Factors Behind The Growth Of Renin-Angiotensin-System RAS-Acting Agents Market?

A key growth driver in the market is the increasing prevalence of hypertension, a chronic medical condition where the force of blood against the artery walls is consistently too high. This rise can largely be attributed to unhealthy diets especially those high in salt and processed foods. Renin-angiotensin system RAS-acting agents play a crucial role in suppressing hypertension by regulating blood pressure through the inhibition of angiotensin II, a hormone that causes blood vessels to constrict and promotes fluid retention, thus aiding in vasodilation and lowering blood pressure.

Who Are The Major Players In The Renin-Angiotensin-System RAS-Acting Agents Market?

The industries that contribute towards the RAS-acting agents market include major companies such as Pfizer Inc., Merck And Co. Inc., Bayer AG, Sanofi S.A., Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, AstraZeneca plc, Novartis AG, GSK plc, Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd., Boehringer Ingelheim GmbH, Sandoz International GmbH, Astellas Pharma Inc., Bausch Health Companies Inc., Aurobindo Pharma Limited, Cipla Limited, Dr. Reddy's Laboratories Ltd., Biocon Limited, Daiichi Sankyo Company Limited, Glenmark Pharmaceuticals Ltd., Torrent Pharmaceuticals Ltd.

These companies remain focused on the development of novel RAS inhibitors like Angiotensin-Converting Enzyme ACE inhibitors to improve efficacy, decrease side effects, and target heart failure and kidney diseases. An ACE inhibitor works to lower blood pressure by blocking the enzyme that transforms angiotensin I to angiotensin II, a substance responsible for narrowing the blood vessels.
