

Excel Dryer expands access to eco-friendly hand dryers through leading green product platforms

Ecomedes & mindful MATERIALS help specifiers with product selection supporting healthy and sustainable projects

EAST LONGMEADOW, MA, UNITED STATES, May 29, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Excel Dryer, Inc., the pioneering force behind the touchless, high-efficiency hand dryers, is forging a new path in sustainable design in partnership with Ecomedes and mindful MATERIALS, two comprehensive databases of eco-friendly products. Architects and designers can easily utilize these tools to find support for projects with health and sustainability goals.

Excel Dryer products are now listed on the Ecomedes platform

"We're thrilled to have a hand in guiding professionals to make environmentally responsible building decisions when specifying products for projects," said Josh Griffing, Excel Dryer Director of Marketing & International Sales. "Ecomedes is a proven resource for analyzing products, downloading product documentation and saving time for designers mapping out projects."

Architects can now access detailed information about Excel Dryer's product line through multiple channels within the Ecomedes and mindful MATERIALS websites. The XLERATOR®, XLERATORReco®, ThinAir® and XLERATORsync® hand dryers all feature Environmental Product Declarations (EPDs) and Health Product Declarations (HPDs), offering transparency around materials, manufacturing and environmental impact. A recent Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) demonstrated that Excel dryers can reduce a facility's carbon footprint by up to 94% compared to even 100% recycled paper towels.

For projects pursuing WELL Certification, Excel products are listed in the Works with WELL directory, which is integrated into Ecomedes. Listings are also available on mindful MATERIALS, a platform powered by Ecomedes that supports material transparency and reduction of embodied
