About The Washington Revels

The Washington Revels is dedicated to reviving and celebrating cultural traditions through seasonal celebrations, music, and community engagement. With over four decades of performances, Revels continues to create joyful and participatory theater experiences for audiences of all ages.

About Washington Revels Jubilee Voices Ensemble

Founded in 2010, Washington Revels Jubilee Voices is an ensemble dedicated to preserving and celebrating African American history through music, spoken word, and dramatic performance. Drawing from spirituals, shouts, and work songs, the group brings to life the voices of the past with vibrant a cappella performances that explore themes from the antebellum period through Reconstruction and the Civil Rights era. Jubilee Voices has performed at historic sites, national landmarks, and cultural institutions across the D.C. region, including the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture, Frederick Douglass National Historic Site, and Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad National Historical Park. With a repertoire rooted in tradition and tailored to local history, Jubilee Voices keeps the stories and songs of African American resilience and resistance alive for modern audiences.
