ASAKUSA, TAITO-KU, TOKYO, JAPAN,

This diorama statue depicts Mothra as she appears in the film "Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire".

The base is designed to evoke the Hollow Earth, where ancient ruins rise from the terrain. The figure of Mothra is positioned among floating rocks and LED-illuminated crystals, creating the impression of flight through the underground sky. The statue's overall silhouette forms a soft inverted triangle, reminiscent of ancient goddess figures. This shape reflects the design's incorporation of Mothra's maternal qualities.

The vividly colored wings were created based on extensive references to film footage and official materials. Sculpted textures replicate the fine structures of hair-like filaments and wing membranes, with complex patterns painted carefully by hand. Her symmetrical face, slender proportions, and mantis-like claws are also reproduced with high precision.
