We conducted a thorough review of our contract therapy options, and Functional Pathways' approach to resident care aligns perfectly with our LifeConnect program and commitment to whole person wellness”

David Erickson, President and CEO, Covenant Living

“We conducted a thorough review of our contract therapy options with an end goal of finding quality care for our residents,” said David Erickson, President and CEO, Covenant Living. “Functional Pathways' approach to resident care aligns perfectly with our LifeConnect program and commitment to whole person wellness.”

Functional Pathways will launch its innovative clinical programming and wellness offerings in two phases to ensure a smooth transition of care, initiating service at eight communities starting June 1, 2025, and the other 12 communities on August 1, 2025.

“It's been a pleasure to work with the Covenant Living team through their selection process, and our team looks forward to providing a seamless transition of service across all sites,” said Chris Sneed, Vice President, Business Development, Functional Pathways. “With more than 85 percent of our customer base in the not-for-profit sector, we are proud to launch this partnership with one of the nation's largest not-for-profit senior housing organizations."

"We selected Functional Pathways because of their proven track record for the highest levels of compliance and their commitment to deliver exceptional outcomes for our residents," said Elizabeth McClaren, Sr. Vice President of Revenue Cycle, Reimbursement, and HCBS. "I appreciate their shared commitment to deliver tailored care solutions that match the unique needs and lifestyles of the residents at each of our communities."

"We are excited to partner with another multi-site, faith-based organization," said Dan Knorr, President & CEO of Functional Pathways. "We appreciate Covenant Living's trust in our team, and we are committed to helping them fulfill their mission to help each resident pursue wellness of mind, body and spirit to enhance every element of their wellbeing."
