

Veteran-turned-author Arthur Edwards Examines Crucial World War II Decisions in New Book Published by Inks And Bindings

"The War We Almost Lost" explores Allied vulnerabilities, strategic missteps, and the fine line between victory and defeat in the Second World War.

YORBA LINDA, CA, UNITED STATES, June 2, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Inks and Bindings, a California-based self-publishing company, has announced the release of "The War We Almost Lost" by naval veteran and historian Arthur A. Edwards, who previously served as a naval officer. The book provides a critical analysis of Allied preparation and execution during World War II, underscoring how a different set of circumstances or decisions could have significantly altered the outcome of the conflict.

"The War We Almost Lost"

In this historical reflection, Edwards discusses the United States' limited readiness in 1941 and evaluates key errors in judgment by both military and political leaders. The narrative also highlights moments of effective strategy, unanticipated advantages, and decisions made by Axis powers that contributed to the Allied path toward victory. By exploring both success and failure across the war's landscape, the author offers a comprehensive account of what nearly tipped the balance of global history.

Arthur A. Edwards brings to this work a combination of academic study and personal military experience. A veteran of the Korean conflict, Edwards grew up in Northern California during the Great Depression and World War II. He studied warfare at the University of California, Berkeley, earning a degree in mechanical engineering before contributing to aerospace projects in the development of weather and communication satellites. His interest in military history is shaped by a multi-generational legacy of U.S. military service, including family members who served in the Civil War and both World Wars.

The book is published by Inks and Bindings, a self-publishing firm based in California. Known for supporting independent authors across a wide range of genres, Inks and Bindings focuses on providing a platform for distinctive voices in literature and nonfiction.

The War We Almost Lost is currently available through Amazon and other book retailers worldwide.

About Inks & Bindings:

Launching brilliant stars into the spotlight! Inks & Bindings is set to broaden horizons, revamp to perfection, and produce a masterpiece through the power of books.

Inks and Bindings is a premier self-publishing company located at the heart of the Golden State. Aptly based where fashion, entertainment, and culture thrive, the team goes all out in bringing independent authors into the sweet California spotlight.

JORELOU GABATO
Inks and Bindings, LLC

email us here

Visit us on social media:

Instagram

Facebook

YouTube

TikTok

X

Other

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/817658637>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2025 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.