David Richey, president of Buckeye Power Systems, said today, “We’ve doubled our warehouse space due to an increased demand from contractors seeking immediate availability of Cummins standby generators in residential and industrial applications.” Richey added, “Buckeye offers ready-to-ship standby generators up to 500kW without the typical 12-15 month build time from the factory. We pre-order single and 3-phase generators to meet rising customer demand.”

Richey said its partnership with Cummins has paid dividends. “We’ve previously sold generators from other popular manufacturers but quickly discovered how the build quality from Cummins translates into quiet and reliable performance for end users,” Richey continued. “Cummins Power Generation is a world leader in power generation equipment and customer satisfaction is impressive.”

Buckeye Power Systems offers ready-to-ship Cummins generators up to 500kW, and in residential and commercial 3-phase voltage configurations. In addition, customers can choose natural gas/LP fueled generators or diesel.
