

Longevity Leadership Conference Returns to Los Angeles: A Premier Gathering of Industry Innovators and Investors

Explore the intersection of science, medicine, investment, and business at the forefront of the longevity revolution.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, June 3, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Healthspan Productions, in partnership with Mission Matters Media, is proud to announce the return of the Longevity Leadership Conference, set to take place at the Verizon Innovation Lab in Playa Vista, California. This exclusive, event is designed for investors, medical professionals, and trailblazers driving the future of healthspan and human optimization.

We're observing the convergence of science, medicine, investment, and business catalyzing a new era in human health. The Longevity Leadership Conference is designed to harness this momentum.”
Elias Arjan, Founder and CEO, Healthspan Productions

The conference offers a unique opportunity to engage with a curated community of industry leaders, including CEOs, founders, longevity physicians, investors, and cutting-edge technologists. Attendees will explore how scientific innovation is transforming human health and will have the chance to build invaluable connections with peers and potential collaborators.

"We're observing the convergence of science, medicine, investment, and business catalyzing a new era in human health. The Longevity Leadership Conference is designed to harness this momentum. Our goal is to foster partnerships that will redefine healthspan and make extended vitality a reality for all."
