

FIAT-Inspired Tissue Case Makes Debut at Nasu Classic Car Museum

HAKUSAN, ISHIKAWA PREF, JAPAN, June 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A meticulously crafted tissue case modeled after the iconic Fiat Nuova 500 has been unveiled at the Nasu Classic Car Museum. This officially licensed product by Fiat combines nostalgic design with practical functionality, appealing to both car enthusiasts and design aficionados.

The Fiat Nuova 500, produced between 1957 and 1977, is celebrated for its distinctive rounded headlights and compact form, symbolizing Italy's post-war automotive renaissance. The tissue case captures these classic features, offering a two-way design that accommodates both standard tissue packs and wet wipes. Its functional wheels add a playful touch, making it a charming addition to any room.

Available in yellow and ivory, the tissue case measures 285mm in length, 132mm in width, and 130mm in height, weighing approximately 480g. Crafted from ABS, PVC, silicone, and GPPS materials, it ensures durability and aesthetic appeal.
