But What's Driving This Agave Nectar Market Growth?

Increasing awareness of fitness among people coupled with a surge in the number of health-conscious consumers is expected to drive the market for agave nectar during the forecast period. Consumers are adopting various diets, including keto and vegan, and implementing fitness routines including gym workouts. Agave nectar, a tasty natural sweetener, can be substituted for high-glycemic and refined sugars by dieters, diabetics, and health-conscious cooks. For instance, in November 2023, PureGym Limited, a UK-based health company, published a 2022-2023 UK fitness report showing that currently, 16% of people in the UK approximately 11 million individuals are gym members, reflecting a 2% year-on-year increase. Therefore, the increasing awareness of fitness and burgeoning number of health-conscious consumers are expected to propel the growth of the agave nectar market.
