increasing demand for commercial aircraft. Commercial aircrafts, non-military vessels used for transporting people and cargo, have seen an upward demand trend, thereby driving aerospace tapes market growth. As these vehicles undergo maintenance and repair, aerospace tapes and other essential equipment are utilized to ensure safety and maintenance standards. This trend is reinforced by data from Airbus, a Netherlands-based aircraft manufacturer who, in January 2024, reported a delivery of 735 commercial aircraft in 2023. This represented an 11% growth compared to 2022 figures, thus driving the demand for aerospace tapes.

What Key Player Strategies Are Driving The Aerospace Tapes Market?

Key industry players making significant contributions to the aerospace tapes market include organizations such as 3M, Nitto Denko Corporation, Avery Dennison Corporation, Tesa SE, Scapa Group plc, Intertape Polymer Group Inc., Saint-Gobain S.A., Berry Global Inc., and many others. Their contribution to the market is not only in the form of their products and services, but also in terms of innovative advancements that propel the sector forward.
