

Girl Scouts Louisiana East Partners with Cox Mobile, Second Harvest Food Bank for Cookies for a Cause

One Purchase, Twice the Impact for Girls and Families in Need

METAIRIE, LA, UNITED STATES, June 5, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- After a Girl Scout cookie season plagued by severe weather, canceled booths, and even rare snow and ice, Girl Scouts Louisiana East (GSLE) is partnering with Cox Communications, presented by Cox Mobile and Second Harvest Food Bank to extend this year's sale. Each purchase helps connect local kids to life skills and key resources. Plus, guests can donate cookies to support neighbors in need of a boost.

Cookies for a Cause, a drive-through cookie sale and donation event, is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, June 21, at Cox's retail location located at 4852 Veterans Memorial Blvd. in Metairie. Not only is this a final chance to get your favorite Girl Scout Cookies until next year, it's an opportunity to buy a box (or case) and donate a box (or case) to Second Harvest Food Bank.

"This isn't just about cookies, it's about meeting two urgent community needs with one action," Cookies for a Cause!

Customers can show their support for Girl Scouts Louisiana East and Second Harvest Food Bank by buying cookies to keep and donate through the online order form and picking up at the Cookies for a Cause event on June 21.

Rebecca Pennington, CEO of Girl Scouts Louisiana East, said. "Every box purchased helps provide critical food supplies to families in need while also supporting scholarships, camp, and life-changing leadership programs for local girls."

Due to unprecedented weather disruptions throughout the 2025 cookie season, GSLE is facing a surplus of cookie inventory that represents essential funds for the organization's programs, especially those that make Girl Scouting accessible to all girls regardless of financial circumstances.

At the same time, Second Harvest Food Bank is navigating a steep drop in federally funded food support due to USDA cuts.

The public can support Cookies for a Cause in the following ways:
Purchase cookies online in advance and pick them up drive-through style Buy on-site while supplies last Enter to win a year's supply of Girl Scout Cookies—for just $5 per ticket, guests can enter a raffle to win 100 packages of cookies to keep or donate to Second Harvest Food Bank

Feel good knowing every purchase supports both Girl Scout programs (like camp and financial aid scholarships) and local hunger relief efforts In addition to making a double impact, customers will receive swag bags courtesy of Cox Mobile and be entered for surprise giveaways throughout the day.

"Connectivity is at the heart of everything we do, and this cookie drive helps support our neighbors and community," said Cox Greater New Cookies for a Cause will feature a last chance to get all your favorite Girl Scout Cookies in 2025!

Customers can pick up their cookies at Cox Communications on Veterans Memorial Blvd and have the chance to win fun prizes and support two great causes.

Orleans Market Vice President Sunni LeBeouf. "Cox Mobile and Cox Communications care deeply about being present in our communities, whether through employee volunteerism and community engagement or utilizing our technology to support innovative programs. Girl Scouts Louisiana East is helping to shape future leaders, and Cox is committed to building a better future for the next generation. We are proud to partner with the Girl Scouts and Second Harvest on such a meaningful initiative."
