LOS ANGELES , CA, UNITED STATES, June 10, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- EV Initiative, the Los Angeles-based Charge Port Operator revolutionizing electric vehicle infrastructure across North America, proudly announces the launch of a brand-new public EV charging site at 3315 Almaden Expressway, San Jose, CA 95118.

This prime location features 10 high-speed EV charging stations, open 24/7 to residents, commuters, and travelers—another major stride in EV

Initiative's mission to deliver clean, accessible, and profitable electric mobility. "Each charger generates passive income for the owner while delivering 24/7 value to EV drivers and the community," said Warren Navarro, COO of EV Initiative.

□ From LA to NorCal: Expansion in Full Drive

EV Initiative has earned national attention for its bold work at Mission Hills, home to the first-ever Fractional Ownership Opportunity in EV charging infrastructure—where everyday investors own a stake in the future of mobility.

With the opening of this San Jose hub, EV Initiative expands its footprint while reinforcing its core mission: to build a dividend-generating public charging network that benefits both EV drivers and investors alike.
