

Hit Maker Fawn and Producer Cameron Lasswell Bring The Bite with 'Ticks' — A Darkly Hilarious EDM Jam Perfect for Summer

As you ride the rhythm of this timely legacy release, the EDM track 'Ticks' might just have you checking your scalp more often than usual!

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, July 10, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Stonedef Records announces the upcoming release of "Ticks", a bold new EDM track from Fawn—the Top five Billboard-charting pop/dance diva, internationally known singer-songwriter, recording artist, and composer—teaming up with gifted songwriter and producer Cameron Lasswell.

Set to drop on July 18, 2025, with pre-orders beginning July 11, Stonedef Records said, "'Ticks' is a hilariously creepy, hard-driving sonic experience inspired by the tiniest and most dangerous summer villains: ticks. With its infectious energy, gritty production, sharply witty and funny words, this dark dance floor jam is primed to get stuck in your head—and make you think twice before walking barefoot on the grass."

"Ticks" is part of Fawn's "The Archive Collection", a curated series showcasing rare, never-before-heard songs, mixes, and remixes unearthed from her private vault. Combining a haunting, beat-heavy soundscape crafted by Cameron Lasswell with a clever side-splitting and truthful yet comical message, "Ticks" walks the perfect line between eerie and entertaining, creepy and cool. It's a twisted summer earworm (no pun intended) you won't be able to resist replaying.

"It's creepy, it's funny, it's gross and it kind of makes your skin crawl—in the best way," Fawn says. "We had a blast making this track, and I think people will have just as much fun listening to it."

Fawn continues, "I believe people will put this track on repeat, because of it's innocent message and hair-raising hilarity."

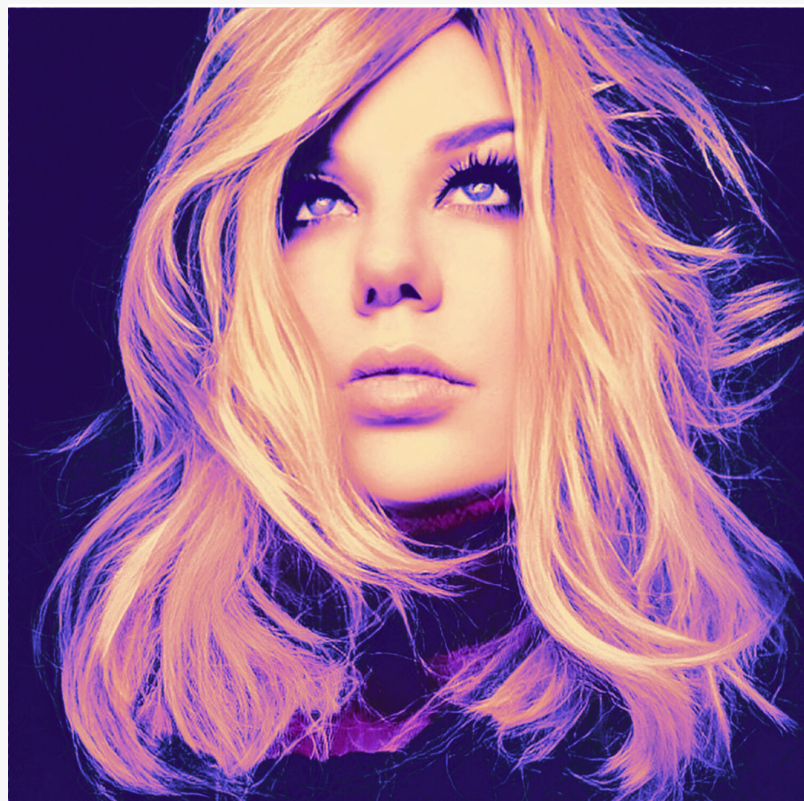

Whether you're jamming out under the open star-filled sky or side-eyeing the lawn, "Ticks" is set to become an unforgettable—and undeniably fun—summer soundtrack.

"Ticks" will be available on all major digital platforms, including Beatport starting July 18, 2025.

“

It's creepy, it's funny, it's gross and it kind of makes your skin crawl—in the best way. We had a blast making this track, and I think people will have just as much fun listening to it.”
