

Colive Fukuoka 2025: Japan's Next Innovation Hub to Merge Digital Nomads and Startups This October

Announcing Colive Fukuoka 2025, a month-long international program bridging digital nomads, entrepreneurs, and global innovators in Fukuoka, Japan.

FUKUOKA, JAPAN, June 11, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Colive Fukuoka Host Team— comprising Fukuoka City and private-sector organizations including yugyo inc. — is pleased to announce Colive Fukuoka 2025, a month-long international program bridging digital nomads, entrepreneurs, and global innovators in one of Japan's most future-forward cities.

Running from October 1 to 31, 2025, the program will bring together diverse participants from around the world to explore business opportunities, cultural depth, and meaningful connection in Fukuoka City — a rising hub for global talent and innovation in Asia.

More Than a Conference — Envision Tomorrow Together.

Colive Fukuoka 2025 goes beyond the boundaries of a traditional conference.

It invites participants not just to attend, but to live in Fukuoka, co-creating a shared future through culture, business, and daily life. The program integrates immersive local experiences with future-focused dialogue, curated to foster both innovation and personal growth.

- Colive Fukuoka Summit (including Opening Reception on Oct 1, and Summit for Oct 2–3)

Kickstarting with an Opening Reception on October 1, this 2-day conference convenes founders, investors, and remote professionals to discuss the future of global mobility and decentralized innovation. Under the theme "Envision Tomorrow Together," this summit brings together visionary speakers from Japan and abroad to explore the future of digital nomadism, entrepreneurship, and lifestyle innovation.

The program integrates immersive local experiences with future-focused dialogue, curated to foster both innovation and personal growth.

Starting in 2025, the summit places special focus on Japanese philosophies such as IKIGAI and Do (The Way道)—held at a venue rich with local culture and history. Attendees can expect thought-provoking sessions, cross-cultural connections, and opportunities to co-create the next wave of global living.

- Synapse Festival (Oct 4)

An immersive art and wellness event designed to awaken creativity through sensory experiences.

- RAMEN TECH (Oct 5–12)

Japan's largest regional startup showcase, attracting 4,000+ participants through pitch stages, demo booths, and international matchmaking.

- Side Events & Excursions (Oct 6–10)

City-wide meetups, "DO (The Way道)" cultural sessions, and curated trips exploring everyday life in Fukuoka.

A dedicated month-long coliving program allows participants to further engage with the local community and explore Fukuoka as a potential "future home."

Building a Better Urban Model — from Local Roots to Global Reach

Colive Fukuoka is pioneering a new model for global cities by addressing key challenges faced by today's mobile professionals:

- Better Tourism beyond "Overtourism"

Japan is witnessing a record surge in international arrivals, causing overtourism in cities like Tokyo and Kyoto. In contrast, Colive Fukuoka promotes longer stays and deeper engagement.

- Regional Revitalization

Digital nomads are not just visitors—they are potential long-term contributors to revitalizing rural Japan. By supporting content creation, vacant house tours, and cultural exchange, Colive Fukuoka facilitates deeper roots and even the prospect of nomads becoming residents or property owners.

- Startup Ecosystem Growth

Through initiatives like RAMEN TECH, Colive Fukuoka links nomads with local founders and investors. Fukuoka is evolving into a global soft landing zone for startups, using events and networks to boost business collaboration.

- Co-Creation with nomads and locals

Rather than mere participation, this year's event focuses on collaborative creation. In partnership with the German "travel and learn" program "Studypacker," we will host German students and develop joint programs with Fukuoka City locals. Additionally, community workshops featuring a global nomad artist are planned too.

This multidimensional approach aims to balance global connectivity with local authenticity, positioning Fukuoka as a leading destination for reimagining how we live, work, and build community.

Application Opportunities

Colive Fukuoka 2025 welcomes global participants not only to attend, but to contribute:

- Speaker

Join us as a speaker to explore the future of nomadic lifestyle. We welcome visionaries from all fields to share their perspectives on how our world is evolving.

- Sponsorship

Collaborate with Colive Fukuoka to foster new partnerships. Our sponsorship program connects businesses with participants and communities, promoting future co-creation.

- Ambassador

Help spread the spirit of Colive Fukuoka. Share your story, connect communities, and gain exclusive perks as an official ambassador.

- Partner

We're seeking community leaders and media professionals in the digital nomad space to join us in creating lasting impact. Special benefits and rewards available.

Messages from Co-Founders

Akina | Founder of Nomad University

Co-creating a World Full of Color

"As I embark on my fifth journey around the world, I feel it more deeply than ever — every country I visit, every city I stay in, introduces me to new ways of thinking, living, and being. In this ever-changing and beautifully diverse world, my hope is that together, we can make Fukuoka a place where digital nomads feel a gentle sense of 'I'm home.'"

Ryo Osera | CEO of yugyo inc.

Meet People You Can't Meet Elsewhere

"After nine years exploring global remote-working hubs, nowhere has felt as comfortable as Fukuoka. I invite participants to experience Fukuoka's comfort firsthand — in business opportunities, travel convenience, daily life, and especially in our vibrant community."
