AWAJI HELLO KITTY APPLE LAND is a group of three facilities on Awaji Island (Hyogo Prefecture, Japan) developed by Pasona Furusato Incubation Inc., where visitors can immerse themselves in the world of Hello Kitty through shows, greetings, dining, and shopping. The three facilities include the media art restaurant HELLO KITTY SMILE, located by the sea, and theater restaurant HELLO KITTY SHOW BOX and apple-shaped observation deck HELLO KITTY APPLE HOUSE located on the hills.

□Hello Kitty by the Sea: HELLO KITTY SMILE

HELLO KITTY SMILE features two restaurants and a media art area themed on the fantastical Ryugu-jo ("Palace of the Dragon King", from the Japanese fairy tale of Urashima Taro) with sea creatures and Hello Kitty dressed as Princess Otohime. The media art area is divided into eight sections, including an underwater cave themed on the fairy tale, a mirror maze that mimics reflections on water, and a giant kaleidoscope photo spot, creating a whimsical space for visitors to dive into the world of Ryugu-jo. The restaurants offer healthy hot pots with local Awaji Island ingredients, fresh grilled seafood from the Seto Inland Sea, and dim sum, over a view of the Harima Sea.

HELLO KITTY APPLE HOUSE

theater restaurant featuring Hello Kitty and other performers singing, dancing, and playing instruments, as well as greetings and photos with Hello Kitty herself. The restaurant offers themed vegan cuisine and dreamy desserts made with plant-based ingredients, promoting health and environmental consciousness. There is also a gift shop with exclusive original merchandise.

□Hello Kitty on the Hills: HELLO KITTY APPLE HOUSE

Holding the record for "largest building in the shape of an apple", HELLO KITTY APPLE HOUSE is a 14-meter-diameter 360° dome theater with projection mapping depicting scenes like Hello Kitty preparing for her show at HELLO KITTY SHOW BOX next door, or Hello Kitty dreaming about her favorite things. From the 15-meter-high rooftop observation deck, visitors can see the world's "largest roof in the shape of a brand character" atop HELLO KITTY SHOW BOX, and a view of the Harima Sea, which has been selected as one of Japan's "Top 100 Sunsets".
