Cannalean provides cannabis products in fruit-flavored liquid formats. Its offerings represent an alternative to conventional edible categories and are developed with labeled dosing for regulated retail.

Mary's Medicinals supplies items such as topicals and capsules. These products are designed with consistent formulations and measurable cannabinoid content, meeting retail requirements for product standardization.

Gramlin is among the dispensary's product selections for those seeking licensed cannabis goods outside of major brand labels. Its inclusion supports inventory diversity within the store's compliant retail framework.

Brite offers clearly labeled cannabis products with straightforward cannabinoid information. This supports customer understanding of product contents and aligns with labeling standards set by California regulations.

Customers may browse the dispensary's online platform to check current inventory, filter by brand or category, and place pre-orders. Same-day delivery is available for eligible addresses, while in-store pickup and walk-in options remain open throughout operating hours.

Located in Oakland, 4Twenty Market functions within a city known for its long-standing role in California's cannabis industry. The dispensary contributes to the local network of licensed retailers by offering regulated access in a setting that emphasizes compliance and operational transparency.

All transactions are conducted under California's state cannabis guidelines, including ID verification, licensed sourcing, and point-of-sale tracking. Staff members are trained in legal retail protocols and assist customers with product selection and ordering methods.

By offering multiple access points, a rotating inventory of licensed brands, and adherence to regulatory standards, 4Twenty Market maintains its position within Oakland's legal cannabis retail structure.
