Set against the backdrop of a restored ancestral estate surrounded by organic gardens and native flora, the retreat experience at Savista is designed for seekers of balance, peace, and authenticity. The program integrates daily yoga sessions, personalized wellness guidance, and immersive local experiences.

A stay at Savista is much more than just a pretty room in a restored heritage haveli (mansion); discerning and eco-conscious travelers also value our organic food and personalized hospitality”

“A stay at Savista is much more than just a pretty room in a restored heritage haveli (mansion); discerning and eco-conscious travelers also value our organic food and personalized hospitality, as well as the many curated activities that we offer”, said Dr. Bhanwar, Owner and Director at Savista Retreat. “Our retreat is designed to be comprehensive. In addition to all of the above it focuses on a deeper reconnection with self, nature, and an immersion in local cultural experiences”

Guests participating in the retreat can expect:

Morning & evening yoga under open skies

Ayurvedic consultation, massage and wellness meals curated from on-site organic produce

Two-day village immersion exploring rural life, hands-on learning of local crafts (such as pottery, block printing), and participating in traditional cultural performances

Opportunities for silence and reflection.

With limited group sizes and a strong emphasis on sustainability, Savista ensures personalized attention and a restorative environment ideal for both solo travelers and small wellness groups.

Bookings for the programme are now open at <https://www.savista.com>. Special introductory packages and early-bird discounts are available for stays between September 2025 and April 2026.
