And now, thanks to a special scholarship program, the full-week experience is now available for just $99 per child. Originally priced at $250, the camp is now offered at a reduced rate with proportional refunds available for families who previously registered at the full rate.

Held from Monday, June 23 through Friday, June 27, this unique summer day camp offers children ages 5 to 13 the chance to dive into the art of puppetry, create their own characters, and bring stories to life through guided workshops and a final live performance for families and friends.

Led by professional puppeteer and teaching artist Chad Parsons, the camp is designed to foster creativity, collaboration, and confidence.

Sessions will be held at the Parish House of All Hallows Church in Wyncote, a setting that
