"We are excited to celebrate the 200th anniversary of a great American bank founded in New York. Our firm and our family remain investors in KeyBank, 90 years after my great-grandfather founded a bank that is now an important component of such a large global financial services conglomerate. He would be proud of the growth of KeyBank!", commented Edmund L. Luzine, Jr., the Founder and CEO of Wytrwal Industries and a former investment banker.

"As we approach the 250th birthday of the US Army on Saturday, June 14th, and the 250th anniversary of the American Revolution on July 4th next year, it is terrific to praise the success of the bankers at KeyBank for their 200 years of excellent performance," Luzine added.

Wytrwal Industries wishes tremendous success to the employees, clients, and investors of KeyBank on the next 200 years as a financial institution.
