and resilience.

Somaya Etemad’s paintings in “A Life Rebuilt Alone”, reflect her personal experiences as woman, mother, and immigrant. Merging her background in architecture with imaginative narratives on memory and survival – her works are layered and whimsical scenes where hope emerges in harsh conditions.

My memories are miles of open country and majestic ever-changing skies. Those compelling relationships between expansive space and dramatic lighting left an indelible mark upon my creative spirit. ”

Sally Lamb, Founding TAG Member

Pedrin Garcia’s “The Way She Moves” is a collection of portraits of people that impacted his life. Human connection is central and stylistically abstracted to capture moments of laughter, sadness, joy and tragedy.

Sally Lamb ’s paintings are like visual diaries, records of her reactions to life events. “Santa Monica Series” favors landscapes, her hometown – the sky, the ocean, the trees, shadows and local buildings – where she creates compelling relationships between expansive space and dramatic lighting.

Gina Leon-Gutiérrez’s paintings of stylized doves in landscapes ravaged by fire and or regenerated and fertile – reimagine a timeless symbol across iconographies, literature and mythology: the dove as peace, hope, fertility, renewal, protection, and “Resilience.”
