Wright, 61, a long-time resident of Guilford County and a dedicated advocate for older adults and families, captivated the judges and audience with her elegance, talent, and heartfelt philosophy on life. She was awarded the crown following a showcase of poise, a personal interview, evening gown modeling, and a moving performance that highlighted her unique gifts.

“

It was a wonderful experience. I am grateful for this honor and blessed by the personal growth and the bonds and connections made with such beautiful women, inside and out.”
