

Lydonia to Partner with Workday Ventures to Support Customer Adoption in Contract Lifecycle Management

WESTWOOD, MA, UNITED STATES, June 17, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Lydonia, a leading professional services firm focused on AI and automation, today announced a strategic investment from Workday Ventures, the investment arm of Workday, Inc. (NASDAQ: WDAY). The investment will help fuel Lydonia's expansion into Contract Lifecycle Management (CLM) services, supporting Workday customers in streamlining complex contract workflows and unlocking greater operational efficiency.

As Workday's Service Partner, Lydonia brings deep implementation expertise in intelligent document processing (IDP) and Agentic AI. This complements Workday's modern CLM platform, powered by Evisort AI, which helps organizations surface insights from complex legal and business documents, accelerating actions across HR and financial operations while reducing risk.

"Contract Lifecycle Management is a high-impact opportunity for digital transformation, and Workday is delivering a platform built for the future," said Kevin Scannell, Founder and CEO of Lydonia. "As an expert in Agentic AI and intelligent document processing deployments, we're proud to bring our professional services expertise to Workday customers to help them deploy and automate contracting operations."

This investment marks a significant milestone in Lydonia's journey to transform how enterprises manage business processes through responsible, AI-driven innovation. As organizations navigate growing volumes of data, documents, and decisions, Lydonia is delivering the AI-driven services and expertise enterprises need to modernize contract operations at scale.
