A Historic Year

As NAPIA enters its 75th year, the association honors its founding in 1951 and its decades-long mission to protect policyholders and elevate the public adjusting profession. Today, NAPIA continues to be the gold standard for public insurance adjusters across the United States. President Justin R. Skipton shared, “This year is a celebration of the people and purpose that make our association great. We honor the past, but we are focused on the future. My goal is to continue strengthening our profession, defending our role in the claims process, and creating space for the next generation of leadership.”

Looking Ahead

NAPIA's priorities for the year include expanding educational opportunities, deepening engagement through committee leadership, and collaborating with key regulatory and industry organizations such as NAIC, NCOIL, CAIF, United Policyholders, TAPIA, FAPIA, RMAPIA, PCAPIA, and others.

The 75th Annual Meeting was a celebration of tradition, leadership, and commitment to policyholder advocacy—a milestone that reaffirms NAPIA's central role in the insurance ecosystem.
