What Factors Are Accelerating The Herceptin Market Growth?

A key growth driver of the herceptin market going forward is the increasing incidence of breast cancer, particularly HER2-positive cases. As more people are diagnosed with this type of cancer due to lifestyle changes such as increased alcohol consumption or lack of physical activity and poor diet which contribute to a higher risk, the demand for effective targeted therapies such as herceptin is on the rise. For instance, the American Cancer Society expects to report an estimated 319,750 new cases of breast cancer by 2025, with approximately 42,680 deaths projected from the disease.
