

BRIDGET MULVENNA WAS RECENTLY SELECTED AS EMPOWERED WOMAN OF THE YEAR BY IAOTP

Bridget Mulvenna will be honored at the International Association of Top Professionals annual awards gala in Las Vegas

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, June 17, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Bridget Mulvenna, Vice President of National Business Development for Capital Rx, was recently selected as Empowered Woman of the Year for 2025 by the International Association of Top Professionals (IAOTP) for her outstanding leadership, dedication, and commitment to the industry.

Inclusion with the International Association of Top Professionals (IAOTP) is an honor; only a few women are chosen for this distinction based on their years of experience, professional accomplishments, academic achievements, leadership abilities, and contributions to their communities. These women empower others with innovation and compassion to reach their goals while creating change for future generations. Bridget Mulvenna will be honored for this distinction at IAOTP's 2025 Annual Awards Gala.

The President of IAOTP, Stephanie Ciriemi, stated, "We are honored to have Bridget Mulvenna as part of the IAOTP family. She provides visionary leadership as a female entrepreneur, and her extraordinary accomplishments prove she will empower women worldwide. We look forward to celebrating all her merits at the Annual Awards Gala and cannot wait to see more amazing things from this woman."

With over three decades of industry experience, Mrs. Mulvenna has established herself as an expert in her field. A dynamic and results-driven leader, she is the Vice President of National Business Development at Capital Rx. Deeply passionate about the pharmacy industry, Mrs. Mulvenna focuses on the pharmacy supply chain and the complex factors influencing medication pricing. Throughout her career, she has been key in driving growth initiatives and building strong relationships with consultants, pharmacy professionals, and employee benefits brokers. Currently, she specializes in selling pharmacy benefit management (PBM) services and working closely with self-funded plan sponsors. As she looks toward the future, her mission is clear: to use her expertise to educate and empower others in navigating the path to the most affordable access to the life-saving medications they need.

Before launching her career, Mrs. Mulvenna attended the University of New Orleans from 1990 to 1992, followed by her graduation from the U.S. Army Medical Center of Excellence, where she served as a pharmacy technician. This foundational experience sparked her passion for healthcare and laid the groundwork for her accomplishments in management, pharmacy, healthcare, managed care, and the pharmaceutical industry. A proud autodidact, Mrs. Mulvenna has continued to expand her knowledge through extensive reading and ongoing continuing education. She remains committed to lifelong learning as a means of continually refining and enhancing her broad and versatile skill set.

Throughout her illustrious career, Mrs. Mulvenna has received many awards and accolades and has been recognized worldwide for her accomplishments. In December, she will be honored at IAOTP's annual awards gala at the magnificent Bellagio Hotel in Las Vegas for her selection as Empowered Woman of the Year and her recent honor as Top VP of Business Development of the Year 2025. Additionally, she has been recognized by Marquis Who's Who of Professional Women.

Looking back Mrs. Mulvenna attributes her success to her perseverance and mentors she had along the way. When not working, she enjoys traveling, singing, meditation, practicing yoga, and spending time with her husband and three sons. In the future, she hopes to inspire and influence those getting into the field.
