Acne is my favorite condition to treat because I see firsthand how it changes lives. When we clear someone's skin, we're not just treating a condition—we're giving them their confidence back.”

Brooke Jeffy, MD

“Acne is my favorite condition to treat because I see firsthand how it changes lives,” says Dr. Jeffy. “When we clear someone's skin, we're not just treating a condition—we're giving them their confidence back.”

A Comprehensive Approach to Acne Care

Dr. Jeffy treats acne as more than just a surface issue. Her treatment philosophy blends medical dermatology, customized skincare, and lifestyle strategies to create a unique and effective care plan. From blackheads and whiteheads to painful cystic acne, Dr. Jeffy addresses all types of acne using an array of proven treatments, including:

- Prescription and over-the-counter topical medications
- Oral therapies targeting bacteria and hormones
- Professional treatments such as chemical peels, extractions, light therapy, and laser
- Long-term scar reduction strategies including microneedling, lasers, and chemical peels

In addition, Dr. Jeffy's expertise in coaching and nutrition enables her to guide patients through the lifestyle changes often necessary to achieve optimal skin health.

A Patient-Centered Dermatology Experience

Known for her compassionate and approachable nature, Dr. Jeffy creates a supportive space where patients feel heard and empowered. She understands that acne is not just a cosmetic concern—it can carry significant emotional and psychological burdens. Her mission is to partner with each patient to restore their skin and their confidence.

“Clear, radiant skin starts from the inside,” explains Dr. Jeffy. “There isn’t a single product or procedure that works alone. That’s why I combine dermatologic expertise with a wellness-centered approach.”
