Increase in number of private islands on cruise itineraries, surge in number of high net worth individuals, and shift toward alternative sources of energy, and rise in disposable income drive the growth of the U.S. 60-80 Feet motorized yacht charter market. However, high cost associated with yacht charter and several environmental concerns associated with boating restrain the market to some extent. On the other hand, increased involvement of intermediaries & hybrid business models, changes in yacht infrastructure, and rise in trend of yacht tourism present new opportunities in the upcoming years.
