

Grass Plus, Inc. Broadens Hydroseeding and Erosion Control Services in Utah and Beyond

Grass Plus, Inc. announces expanded commercial hydroseeding and erosion control capabilities across Utah, Idaho, and surrounding states.

EDEN, UT, UNITED STATES, July 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Grass Plus, Inc. Broadens Hydroseeding and Erosion Control Services in Utah and Beyond

Grass Plus Inc., a regional leader in landscaping and environmental services, has announced the expansion of its commercial hydroseeding and erosion control operations. The move positions the company to take on larger-scale projects across Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, and Colorado.

The expansion includes new equipment investments and additional field crews, allowing Grass Plus to support reclamation projects tied to construction, utility corridors, and energy developments. Services include hydroseeding, drill seeding, straw mulching, and silt fence installation—tailored to both compliance needs and ecological goals.

We’re scaling our operations to meet rising demand for large-scale seeding and erosion control, especially as infrastructure and energy projects expand across the West.”

Blake Burhley, Owner of Grass Plus, Inc.

The company’s techniques emphasize soil stability, native seed integration, and regulatory compliance with federal and state reclamation standards.

A Word from the Owner

“We’re scaling our operations to meet rising demand for large-scale seeding and erosion control, especially as infrastructure and energy projects expand across the West,” said Blake Burhley, Owner of Grass Plus, Inc.
