A key highlight of the summit is the FutureTech World Cup, to be held on 9 July 2025 at the JW Marriott, Jakarta. This live pitch competition will feature ten high-potential startups from across Asia, each selected for their innovation, scalability, and impact in sectors such as:

Artificial Intelligence

Smart Cities & Urban Tech

FinTech & Digital Infrastructure

HealthTech & BioAI

Climate Tech & Sustainability

These startups will pitch before an elite jury of regional investment leaders:

Navas Ebin Muhammed, MD & Head of APAC, Mars Growth Capital (Singapore)

Wiljadi Tan, Managing Partner, Protemus Capital (Indonesia)

Derisa Zahara, VP of Value Creation, AC Ventures (Indonesia)

Agung Bezharie Hadinegoro, Partner, Antler (Indonesia)

Eddy Gunawan, IT Security Expert, PT Pertamina (Persero)

The competition provides not just visibility but a strategic entry point into Southeast Asia's innovation economy. The winning startup will also advance to the Grand Finale at the Dubai AI Festival 2026, giving them a truly global stage.

Positioned at the crossroads of innovation, regulation, and industry transformation, World AI Show – Indonesia 2025 is not just a conference—it is a strategic catalyst for collaboration, policymaking, and technological progress in the ASEAN region.

From building public-private partnerships to facilitating investor-ready pitches and enabling AI adoption across sectors, this summit is where Indonesia's AI future takes shape.

“Indonesia’s AI journey demands both innovation and wisdom. Through KORIKA’s leadership, we are shaping an ecosystem that reflects our national values while advancing technological progress. The World AI Show is a platform of both opportunity and responsibility—a chance to ensure our digital transformation is inclusive and impactful,” said Prof. Hammam Riza, President of KORIKA.

Now is the time to position your organisation at the core of Indonesia’s AI movement. Be part of the conversations—and the outcomes—that will define the region’s digital economy for years to come.
