

Agnes Garrow Shines at the 30th Anniversary of the LA Times Festival of Books

A Powerful Message of Faith, Resilience, and God's Purpose in the Midst of Pain

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, July 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MainSpring Books proudly highlights the moving appearance of author Agnes Garrow, who brought heart, healing, and honesty to the 30th Anniversary of the LA Times Festival of Books, held April 26–27, 2025, at the University of Southern California.

At the event, Agnes participated in an exclusive recorded author interview and book signing session, captivating audiences with her message rooted in personal experience and spiritual transformation. Her book, What Is The Point In Suffering From God's Perspective, dives deep into the universal question of human suffering—and answers it through the lens of faith.

Raised in the United States after being born in Lodz, Poland, Agnes's life has been marked by early trauma and a long journey of emotional and spiritual struggle. During her interview, she described her lowest points with vulnerability and clarity—but also with a sense of victory. "It was through Jesus Christ that I found purpose in my pain," she said. "There is light at the end of the tunnel—and that light is Him."

Festivalgoers flocked to MainSpring Books Booth #967 to meet Agnes, take photos, and share their own experiences of resilience. For many, her book and presence were a source of encouragement and connection. "It was a blessing to meet so many people and to share my story in person,” Agnes said. “I’m humbled and honored to have been part of this incredible event.”

Her debut book has already begun to resonate with readers who are navigating life’s challenges—offering not just comfort, but a renewed sense of identity in Christ. Through her words, Agnes reminds us that suffering isn’t the end of the story—it’s often where the transformation begins.

The 2025 LA Times Festival of Books marked a major milestone for Agnes’s publishing journey and underscored the mission of MainSpring Books: to champion independent voices that speak life, healing, and truth.

Suffering is never the final chapter—it's where God begins to write a new story of healing, purpose, and hope.”
