expand from $1.52 billion in 2024 to $1.63 billion in 2025 at a compound annual growth rate CAGR of 7.5%. In addition, the rise in disposable income among senior citizens and an increase in life expectancy have led to the expansion of home healthcare services, further fueling this growth.

What Is The Projected Future Growth Of The Elderly Walkers Market Size?

Looking forward, the elderly walkers market is set to witness even stronger growth. The market is forecast to grow to $2.15 billion in 2029 at a compound annual growth rate CAGR of 7.1%. Factors contributing to this growth include a growing elderly population worldwide and the prevalence of mobility-related health issues. There has also been an increased focus on elderly independence and awareness about fall prevention. The higher incidence of arthritis and joint pain among the elderly is another factor propelling the market growth.

What Are The Key Drivers Propelling The Growth Of The Elderly Walkers Market?

Emerging trends in the forecast period include advances in walker design and technology, such as the availability of customizable and lightweight walkers, adoption of smart and connected walker devices, and integration of ergonomic features to improve comfort. Additionally, we are also seeing development of multi-functional walkers with added features.

Furthermore, the elderly walkers market growth is expected to be further propelled by an increase in orthopedic procedures. These procedures are aimed at diagnosing and correcting issues related to bones, joints, muscles, tendons, and ligaments. Elderly walkers provide essential support for patients recovering from these procedures by enhancing stability, reducing fall risk, and promoting safe, independent mobility during rehabilitation. The number of orthopedic procedures, such as knee replacements, have been steadily increasing. For instance, according to Curvo Labs Inc., a US-based healthcare supply chain management company, knee replacement procedures in the U.S. rose from 1,235,835 in 2021 to 1,299,084 in 2022.
